What the General Clergy Relief Fund Stands For

(1) For an united effort on the part of the whole Church to solve the problem of pension and relief as broadly and inclusively as possible.

(a) For example: Without diocesan and geographical limitations, such as a certain number of years of residence in a diocese, seat in Diocesan Convention, number of offerings, and the like.

(b) Without dues or fees, as is the case in a society requiring membership, which requirement renders benefits forfeitable, limited and non-applicable to all the clergy of the Church.

(c) Without physical examination, as is required by insurance companies, thus limiting the number who can be benefited and therefore inapplicable universally.

(2) For pension and relief as applied to the whole family unit, i. e., clergy, widows, orphans.

As for example:

(b) Widows, unless they remarry,

(c) Orphans up to twenty-one, unless they marry before.

(3) FOR PENSIONS AT 64. Without regard to dues or fees, or infirmities, or localities, or years of residence, or contributions, or physical examination; but simply "by right of years of honorable service."

HOW THIS IS BEING ACCOMPLISHED

First. Sixty-six Dioceses and Missionary Jurisdictions out of ninety-eight, by their united effort as one society, are fulfilling the ideal of solving the problem of pension and relief as broadly and inclusively as possible.

Second. By applying pension and relief to the whole family unit and to the extent of over 600 persons in all Dioceses and Missionary Jurisdictions, and in amounts up to $500.

Third. By pledging the clergy and others to Automatic Pensions at 64, and by securing offerings, specially designated for this purpose, which now amount to about $105,000.

What the General Clergy Relief Fund Stands For

Fourth. By securing offerings, contributions, legacies and bequests which will amount to over five hundred thousand dollars for the three years; about two hundred and fifty thousand of which has been designated for Permanent Funds by contributors, making the Permanent Funds about four hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

HOW CAN THE MATTER BE HASTENED

By participation, not legislation. We do not need more machinery, nor intermediary societies, nor auxiliaries, but contributors participating in the simple plan of annual offerings. About a fourth of the clergy and a fifth of the churches comply with the recommendation of the General Convention and send offerings. Why not all the Clergy and Churches?

Second. By annual offerings from all the congregations of the Church, and by a percentage of the Communion Alms as recommended by the General Convention.

Third. By interesting the Laity in this method of blessing and encouraging the work of the Church.

Fourth. By subscribing to the fund for Pensions at 64.

Fifth. By legacies and bequests.

DANGERS

First. The obligations of the Trustees of the General Clergy Relief Fund have now become so large and serious that they must not only claim the cordial support of every Churchman, but protection, in like manner, from anything that will divert or lessen the income or resources. In unity is strength; scattered offerings are wasteful and ineffective.

Second. From impatient and unnecessary legislation. Legislation will not make money.

Third. From unnecessary machinery, agents, societies, auxiliaries.

Simplicity and large inclusiveness is one of the characteristics of the General Clergy Relief Fund.

The Trustees are in direct contact, without any middle agency, with all contributors, and receive their offerings directly, putting them into immediate use and returning thanks and a statement of needs at once to those interested.

Fourth. From lack of participation on the part of the clergy who ought to be the ones most interested.

Questions in Regard to the Fund Answered

The Church in its official capacity has provided, by profoundly wise legislation, in its general canons, for a uniform, comprehensive annuity or pension and relief fund for the clergy and their families throughout the whole Church. The machinery comprises an automatic pension at 64, when sufficient money is provided.

It is the only pension and relief fund for which the General Convention:

(a) has ever legislated;
(b) provides Trustees triennially;
(c) sets apart a definite day for offerings;
(d) recommends a portion of the Communion Alms;
(e) gives the royalty on the Hymnal.
(f) has appointed a commission to raise an endowment.

This General Fund has the same status in the General Canons as the Missionary Society.

The General Clergy Relief Fund has in the last few years:

(a) Merged with it the organizations for relief of about 66 Dioceses and Missionary Jurisdictions;
(b) increased the number of annuitants to over 600;
(c) increased the annuities paid from 5 to 10 fold.

It is the only fund in the Church which gives a pension or annuity without payment of dues or fees or premiums or age requirements or diocesan limitations;

(a) to the young disabled clergyman;
(b) to the old disabled clergyman;
(c) to the widow of a clergyman;
(d) to the orphan of a clergyman; and it is to-day dispensing more money than any other society of the kind in the whole Church.

Legislation of the General Convention

1. Authorizing percentage of Communion Alms for General Clergy Relief Fund.—Convention of 1883.

"Of increasing the ability of the Trustees and extending the benefits of the Fund for the Relief of the Widows and Orphans of Deceased Clergymen and of Aged, Infirm and Disabled Clergymen."

Resolved, That the General Convention earnestly recommend the devotion, by the Ministers of this Church, of a part of the alms and contributions at the administration of the Holy Communion, to the support of disabled clergymen, and the widows and orphans of deceased clergymen."

2. Setting apart a regular Sunday (Quinquagesima) for an annual offering.—Convention of 1895.

"We earnestly recommend that stated offerings shall be made for this fund annually on Quinquagesima Sunday or on the Sunday nearest thereto that may be convenient."

3. Creating a Commission to raise an Endowment for the General Clergy Relief Fund.—Richmond Convention, 1907.

"Resolved, That a Special Commission of ten Bishops, fifteen Presbyters, and twenty Laymen be appointed to take in hand the raising of a sum of not less than five millions of dollars for the General Clergy Relief Fund."

"The purpose of the Commission is to raise $5,000,000 for the pensioning by right of every clergyman of this Church, at the age of sixty-four, and prior thereto, if incapacitated for service by accident or disease. The General Clergy Relief Society is to be the administrator of the Fund, to which Society whenever $10,000 has been accumulated, that sum will be handed over for investment."—Commission Circular.

On Merging

THE GENERAL FUND is overlapping and supplementing help in all dioceses, and so long as such help exists the Trustees work in harmony with such efforts, and co-operate to the great end, that adequate support may be provided for the aged and disabled clergy and their widows and orphans; at the same time the Trustees hold, "That it is most unsatisfactory to have the matter of clerical relief approached in 40 or 50 different ways and from all of them without regard to the others."

In 1898 the Trustees said to the General Convention: "It is devoutly to be wished that all clergy relief funds, diocesan or otherwise, might somehow act together as one; secure an adequate income by a new endowment, or by the increase and combination of old ones establish some uniform system of pensions, and lift the whole work out of what now seems a series of bureaus of unequal, insufficient and uncertain doles, to its rightful power and scope from one end of the land to the other, as a nation takes the task of providing for its heroes and wards out of the uncertainties of charity and sets it upon the sure basis of a righteous duty righteously fulfilled."

About 66 dioceses and Missionary Jurisdictions have either merged with the General Fund or appointed committees to that end. Some of the arguments that have moved them can be stated as follows:

First—The clergy are called to the whole Church, therefore a general pension system seems to be required. The National Government does not require each State to look after the pensioning of its soldiers.

Second—Annuities or pensions should be paid to the officers of the Church without regard to local restrictions or any requirements of previous pecuniary payments. Active service and a life of honorable devotion to duty have earned this.

Third—It is not right that a clergyman's old-age-and-disability-support or pension (or that of his family) should be imperiled by reason of his call to serve at any time, in any part of the Church, but especially in the hard places. A premium should not be placed upon mere sojourn in opulent dioceses. Local funds are forfeitable and so restrain and discourage aggressive missionary effort in less favored places. The great body of the clergy are ineligible to local funds by reason of unwilling removals or local requirements.

Four'h—A General Fund is of necessity more equitable and just. There is no reason why a man who belongs to the same Church and is doing hard, self-denying work, should have less chance of a pension or less of a pension in one diocese than another.

Fifth—A pension from a General Board of the Church can be administered more nearly as a right, by a formal appropriation; and with greater delicacy because of less personal contact.

Sixth—An uniform fund and effort puts an end to the confusion caused in the minds of many by reason of different funds and methods and subdivisions of authority and appeal.

Seventh—The merging of funds puts an end to the accumulation of local funds which may and do in some cases lie idle and unused, the income being added to the principal.

Eighth—The General Fund presents to the whole Church a clear, simple, business-like system such as the United States Government and great corporations and some other churches have adopted.

Ninth—The General Fund comprehends the Family Unit. It cares for the young disabled clergyman, the old disabled clergyman, the aged clergyman, the widow, the orphan; and provides for an old age pension at 64 when sufficient money has been accumulated; and it does this no matter in what part of the world the man or his family happen to be.

Tenth—A more complete record of all clergy relief in the Church, and, therefore, a more equitable and sufficient distribution can be made by means of the General Fund. Instead of "a series of bureaus of unequal and insufficient and uncertain doles the General Fund establishes a uniform system and lifts the work out of what now seems to be a fragmentary, uncertain and inequitable condition."

Eleventh—Local interest is advantaged by merging. Beneficaries on diocesan lists are transferred to the General Fund and paid the same amounts they have been receiving, and in addition the Bishop can ask for an appropriation from the General Fund, and in addition can designate out of any surplus funds, amounts for his clergy, and all this without extra canons or legislation.

Twelfth—Local authority, interest and information can be secured by having in each Diocese and Missionary Jurisdiction a Diocesan Committee on General Clergy Relief composed of three clergymen and two laymen to assist the Bishop and the officers of the General Clergy Relief Fund, and reporting to their convention each year the contributions from the parishes and missions and the needs as furnished by the Bishop and the officers of the General Clergy Relief Fund; the report so made to be printed in the Journal. Local or Diocesan accumulations given specifically for use in a Diocese can be held under a form of agreement by a local board, while the organization and interest and offerings are merged in the General Fund.

"The Trustees may enter into relations with all kindred funds and societies in the Church, and so far as may be practicable, secure their co-operation to the end that there may be a complete record of all clergy relief in the Church, and that such relief may be distributed wisely, equitably and efficiently."—Canon 53 of the General Canons of the Church.

"The Trustees further would inquire whether it be not possible and desirable to establish a correspondence between this general fund and all kindred funds and societies in the Church, to the end that there may be an understanding, and, so far as practicable, co-operation between all the agencies; that there may be a general bureau to at least record all that is done by the Church in this matter of clergy relief, that it may be done with intelligence and in the best and most efficient way."—Convention Reports of 1892; repeated in Convention Reports of 1895.

PRAYERS

GENERAL CLERGY RELIEF FUND

O LORD JESUS CHRIST, Thou gracious Shepherd and Bishop of our souls, we beseech thee for thy ministering servants, Apostles, Prophets, Evangelists, Pastors and Doctors, now aged and infirm, and no longer able to work as active laborers in thy vineyard. Leave them not, neither forsake them in this their hour of temporal want and distress. Open the hearts and hands of thy people for their support and comfort, that their pathway to the grave may be free from all worldly cares and anxieties. Let the fund which thy Church has established for their relief be increased many fold, that neither they nor their helpless widows and orphans may ever come to want or have cause to complain of our neglect, but as the members of one family and household of faith, may we rejoice together in thy love shed abroad in our hearts; through the same Jesus Christ, our most Blessed Lord and Saviour. Amen.

Or this:

O LORD JESUS CHRIST, who hast promised to be with the Ministers of thy Church to the end of the world, be graciously pleased to bless and prosper our efforts to provide for the aged clergy and their families. Open the hearts and hands of thy people for their support and comfort, that in their latter days they may be kept from want and anxieties. Grant this, O blessed Saviour, who livest and reignest with the Father and the Holy Ghost, ever one God, world without end. Amen.

The Message of the Trustees

In making this Thirteenth Triennial Report the Trustees of the General Clergy Relief Fund stand in the presence of some very excellent facts and accomplishments. It has seemed almost impossible to exceed the records made during the last ten years, and yet the Trustees have been able to report to each General Convention, during this period, in many cases, the doubling of figures, as, for instance, in the number of beneficiaries cared for; pensions and annuities paid; total receipts; additions to the Permanent Funds; merging and consolidation of Dioceses and Missionary Jurisdictions, sixty-six of which, let it be said in passing, are now working with a single, definite purpose, which is impressive and convincing, and with a concentration of energy, intelligence and good will which has never been exceeded in any effort of the Church, save the Missionary work.

The Record in Brief

The Trustees report 634 beneficiaries as having received Pension and Relief and about $235,000 appropriated and used for this purpose, as over against $144,000 reported to the last Convention. About $200,000 added to the Permanent Funds as against $138,000 last reported, making the total receipts over $500,000 as against $300,000, and the Permanent Funds about $450,000, with a ratio of expense to administration of .051.

Sixty-six out of ninety-eight Dioceses and Missionary Jurisdictions are now merged with the General Fund and some of the few remaining have appointed committees to that end.

The clause in the Canon making all Clergymen "eligible to share in the benefits of the fund at the age of sixty-four," or what has become known as "Automatic Pensions at sixty-four," which has been planned for and strongly urged by the Trustees for the last nine years, has received an encouraging impulse through the labors of the Five Million Commission appointed by the Convention of 1907 to raise an Endowment for the General Clergy Relief Fund.

The Commission has turned over in cash $85,000, which sum has been added to amounts already accumulated by the Trustees and both placed at interest.

About one-third of the Clergy upon the lists of the General

Fund, at the present moment, come within the classification of "Pensions at sixty-four" and therefore the system has been and is already in action to this extent.

Principles Applied

As the legally incorporated and canonical society of the Church for the administration of Pensions and Relief, the Trustees feel that the appropriation and payment of the interest upon the Endowment and Permanent Funds ought to be made in accordance with the principle they have so frequently declared, viz.: that the interest on the Endowment, when it accumulates, shall be distributed among those who reach the age of sixty-four, automatically; that is, as the Trustees have declared again and again, "without regard to dues, or fees, or infirmities, or localities, or years of residence, or contributions, or physical examination; but simply by right of years of honorable service."

Let Nothing Hide the Real Work

It is the hope of the Trustees that figures and finance and discussions as to plans and regulations will not hide from the Church the splendid and heartening human fact of the great value of the help now being furnished to the brethren and to their families in want and distress.

The tendency to belittle and minimize the amount of help granted and the numbers relieved has gone far enough and is misleading.

If 634 persons and many others depending upon them could stand up here and now and say, what they have again and again said to the Trustees, of their dire need and distress; of their sore extremity and hopelessness; of the great relief afforded and their gratitude and thankfulness to Almighty God and the Church for the help furnished, it would be most impressive.

If this Convention and all Churchmen could really see and hear of a side of the work of the society we are not able to voice, they would realize that there are things of far greater importance than all the statistical reports and statements presented; that the work is a work of practical beneficence and love and sympathy; that it is overflowing with sentiment and kindliness, and is often the finest material expression of Christian love and brotherliness in the Church; and that, both in numbers and in help furnished, it is in some respects the most impressive work of the Church.

The point the Trustees want to make is that there is danger of losing sight of the volume and present importance of this real work, its widespread blessing and helpfulness, in talk of ways and means and plans and finances. The work must be judged by what it has done and is doing to relieve distress and poverty; and not by fixing the eyes upon plans and regulations and financial statements and "rights" rather than duties.

The Unanswerable Argument

The need and value of Pension and Relief require no argument to-day. The convincing argument has been the adoption of the system almost universally by governments, not only as applied to soldiers and sailors, but to mechanics and laborers and old people generally.

The reasons for such a system are both philanthropic and practical. They originate not more in humane considerations than in a spirit of intelligent selfishness. "That a man who, after he has performed well and faithfully his service in the employment of a permanent or established organization for many years, has arrived at the time of life when his strength begins to wane and his faculties to fail him, should be honorably entitled to its care, has come to be viewed more and more as a duty between man and man. Even old age itself has been accepted in Germany and England as a reason why the government should set aside a pension for its relief from indigence. But in the railway business of this country there is an economic reason as well—its own efficiency. Thus the Pennsylvania Railroad Company found some years ago that it had in its employment a large number of men who were, or were soon likely to be, at the years when they could not do their work so well as they had been in the habit of doing it, or might even be unfit to do it at all. To throw them out would have blighted the rest of their lives in many instances, and reduced them to distress. To keep them in the service would have been to weaken it, to impair its safety or efficiency, and to hinder the advancement of younger, stronger and more capable ones. To retire some and to retain others, would have been a cause of irritation and discontent. Hence it was that the rules were established by which every man, from the president down, goes out of service at seventy; but in doing so, when he has complied with the requirements of the system, he makes his exit as one who is entitled to honor and reward for the years of his activity and loyalty."

It has only been within the past nine or ten years that the Pennsylvania Railroad, one of the most successful corporations anywhere, in maintaining not only discipline but good will among a great and widespread body of employees, has adopted the pension system. Yet within that period the amount of money which the company has paid out in pensions to those of its men who have been relieved from active service has amounted to $5,512,-529.57, and all this without any expense to the men.

In the accident and relief department certain dues and fees are required, but the pension system is provided for by the company itself.

Last year pensions were paid to 3,465 retired employees and the total appropriation amounted to $882,500.

The Carnegie Pension and Relief Funds as applied to various iron companies, to retiring college professors, etc., is also distributing hundreds of thousands of dollars. The International Harvester Company, next to the Steel Corporation the largest aggregation of capital in the world, the Standard Oil Company and innumerable other corporations and associations are distributing millions annually in pension and relief.

Subscriptions and gifts and bequests for policemen and firemen and school teachers are popular and generously supported.

Why is it, therefore, that Churchmen of means, with these examples before them, do not abundantly remember the Pension and Relief of the old Clergy and their widows and orphans by gifts and in their wills?

Endowment

We have asked ourselves again and again why this cause, which is from every point of view so fundamental, does not enlist a greater interest on the part of Churchmen and bring in larger gifts and bequests. Surely the work of the Church cannot be done without the worker; surely the laborer is worthy of his hire; surely it is a primary duty and a first requisite of a Christian to relieve the sick and the suffering and to care for the old and infirm. Then why is it that more Christian men and women, in making their wills, do not remember the Church in this matter? No man or woman making such a gift can possibly foresee the other splendid beneficial results that will follow.

A large gift, at interest, would lift the ordinary work of the society up to a basis of adequacy and dignity and make not only the widow's heart sing for joy, and bring relief and freedom from corroding anxiety to the sick and infirm among the Clergy, but it would react upon the Church and fill the hearts of the workers with courage and hope in all hard places.

The annual offerings of the Church are not adequate to the needs of the worthy beneficiaries.

In order, therefore, that the Clergy may be cared for in a manner and with a certainty heretofore impossible, the General Convention has directed that an Endowment Fund of five million dollars be raised. The interest from these invested funds, together with the offerings of God's people, will enable us to care for the Clergy as befits their splendid service to Christ and our Church.

Many religious bodies approximating their duty to Christ touching this most worthy class of His beloved servants, have felt the necessity for an Endowment Fund. Some branches of the Presbyterian Church now have Endowments varying from $250,000 to $2,500,000, the proceeds of which are used to care for the aged and enfeebled ministers and the widows and orphans of deceased ministers.

Line Upon Line, Precept Upon Precept

Some things need to be said again and again, and this year especially the Trustees feel that the ninety-nine blows upon the rock may require just one more blow in order to give impressiveness and effectiveness.

In their report to the Richmond Convention in 1907 the Trustees said: "The duty and responsibility and future growth of Clergy Relief and Pension we believe has been admirably covered in Canon 53. It plans for an united effort on the part of the whole Church to solve the problem of Pension and Relief as broadly and inclusively as possible; and in one report after another they have said, 'The General Clergy Relief Fund applies no tests, attaches no conditions, requires no payments or membership dues, admits of no forfeiture, but offers its benefits to all Clergymen of the Church who may be disabled whether by age or infirmity and to the families of all Clergymen who die in the Communion of the Church.'" Expanded this has grown into a statement of principles which was embodied in the Twelfth Triennial Report as follows:

"No plan should include requirements which would render benefits forfeitable, e. g. removals from one Diocese to another, seat or vote in Diocesean Convention; years of residence in a Diocese; number of offerings, etc.

"No plan should be limited to a portion of the Clergy, or be non-applicable to the whole body of the Clergy of the Church and their widows and orphans, e. g. the requirement of dues or fees or a percentage of salary would make ineligible a large number of the most faithful, laborious and patient men of the Church. Physical examination as a requirement is out of the question.

"Any plan should observe the equities. All officers of the Church should be absolutely upon the same basis of eligibility, e. g. the man in a poor section of the Church doing equally hard work with the man in a rich section of the Church should receive the same consideration. The widow of a Bishop or of the Rector of an important parish should receive the same consideration, as Christians and brethren. Ten years, but of such intensity as to break the man down, should not deprive him of a pension as over against the twenty years of another's life not so intense.

"In the matter of pensions at the age of sixty-four, the ideal of both equity and grace is provided for in the Canon and is realized in the plan for Automatic Pensions at sixty-four. All Clergymen at this age, simply by right of years of honorable service, should receive a pension or annuity viewed as compensation for work already done.

"No plan of Pension and Relief should conflict with the call of a faithful soldier of the Cross to go wherever need and duty require in the Church. In other words, locality should not imperil a man's right to Pension and Relief; neither should a premium be placed upon sojourn in opulent dioceses.

"Finally, any plan should be free from undue ecclesiastical influence in making grants in order that prejudice and localism and small estimate of worth and work may not hinder justice and equity. There should be large liberty of action and large generosity in fact on the part of the Church in this matter."

"It is the conviction of the Trustees that the national and official society of the Church fulfills these requirements in the freest and most generous manner and that regulations and restrictions applicable to a money-making institution and its officers ought not to be attempted."

Here a Little and There a Little

Unity and concentration of effort ought to be the watchwords. Just in so far as the General Fund has approached this ideal, has it lifted the whole work up to its "rightful power and scope from one end of the land to the other, as a nation takes the task of providing for its heroes and wards out of the uncertainties of charity and sets it upon the sure basis of a righteous duty righteously fulfilled."

Divided and indefinite responsibility is contrary to modern business methods and to the forward movement.

Scattered offerings are wasteful and inefficient.

Additional organizations and auxiliaries for the same purpose or covering the same field are inexpedient and confusing.

The administrative body ought to be in control of offerings and resources without middle agencies; ought to possess complete records of all Clergy Relief in the Church, so that the work may be done with intelligence and in the best and most efficient way.

A diversion of funds to special cases or to special Dioceses by reason of some unusual sentiment or sudden interest ought not to be possible.

Secular Regulations not Applicable in this Work of the Church

It cannot be said too often nor with too much emphasis that the arguments and methods and regulations which apply to pension and relief in secular life and among wage-earning or money-making organizations or taxable states cannot apply to the work of the Church in this matter of Pension and Relief.

The Church is not a money-making institution, she has no definite income, she cannot be taxed, she cannot be compelled. While she teaches obedience to law and governmental regulation, she cannot be made to observe any general law of obedience as to taxation or apportionment promulgated as a command or demand or regulation applying to the money she shall pay either in salaries or for pensions or for missions. Her officers in the ministry receive no definite or well determined or universal wage such as obtains among government officers or railroad officials, etc. Therefore, it would be the height of folly to burden the Church's system with the minute and intricate regulations which might well apply, indeed are constantly applied, to the pension and relief systems of railroads or corporations, as to percentage of grant based upon one-third or some fraction of average salary and years of service, and amount paid by assessment or taxation or by reason of rank or importance of place occupied. Because of this failure to realize that the Church is not like any of the money-making, money-having institutions in the world she is too often, in this matter, severely faulted for not doing what she is not set to do as a matter of business and cannot do as a matter of business. No doubt the Church ought to pay adequate and regular salaries and pensions to her officers, but who will compel her and what tangible body is there to be compelled? The Church is after all here and everywhere in such matters only the "phantom self of every man in it."

In the matter of Pension and Relief we must depend, therefore, upon the application of the Christian principles for which the Church has always stood and which she is always teaching, viz., justice and mercy and humanitarianism; the practice among her own of the Gospel she professes; the practice of the right and duty of that charity and love, which in this Christian world of ours, in the face and presence of all its evident progress, is yet the most beautiful, the most tender in spirit, the most brotherly thing among brethren. Many in the Church realize and more will, as the years go by, that the glory of the General Clergy Relief Fund is in its freedom from limitations, its wide inclusiveness, its appeal not to the secular spirit, but to the exercise of that spirit which has been the foundation and initiative in the world of all that has been best done by corporations and states in this matter.

Salaries and Pensions

The Trustees believe that not only have they served the Church in collecting and distributing funds for Pension and Relief, but that they have awakened throughout the Church a larger interest in the question of adequate salaries as well as the duty of Pension and Relief. There are certain matters which concern the vitality and success of the Christian enterprise which should be faced squarely and courageously and, if possible, remedied.

The average salary paid throughout the Church is undoubtedly so small as to be a matter of humiliation, and the cost of living is much greater to-day than it was some years ago. It is difficult for a large number of the Clergy of the Church to live decently and provide for the necessities of life. It is impossible for them to provide for the future and sickness.

And yet a competent supply of competent workmen competently paid and competently pensioned is necessary to the existence and progress of the Church.

Says John R. Mott in his book entitled, "The Future Leadership of the Church": "The inadequate financial provision made for so many ministers is another reason why young men do not enter the ministry. While the cost of preparation for the ministry, the cost of living, and the special demands on the minister's purse are much larger than formerly, his salary has not, as a rule, been proportionately increased. In many places the salary has decreased. It has also less purchasing power than it had a few years ago.

"I know of no Christian communion or denomination which makes adequate provision for its ministers. In far too many cases the treatment is nothing less than scandalous. As some one has pointed out, 'starvings' would be a better name than 'livings,' in mentioning the provision made in these times for many ministers in different communions.

"The average minister and his wife are uncomplaining, but their poverty involves many a pathetic experience, and now and then a real tragedy.

"Some young men recognize these facts and considerations, but what makes this a cause of much greater hindrance is the fact that many parents recognize the situation, and have been so much influenced by it that they discourage their sons from considering the Christian ministry as a life-work. Moreover, a much larger number of ministers than is realized feel this matter so keenly, as a result of their intimate knowledge of the facts that, while they may not discourage young men from considering the ministry as a life-work, they are not enthusiastically and aggressively seeking to direct them into this calling.

"It has been the glory of the Christian ministry that no cost has been counted too great when sacrifice was necessary. But nothing makes it necessary that the leaders of the Church, handicapped and burdened for want of needed means, should carry forward a work of unselfish service on behalf of men who are able to provide them an adequate support. No man worth his salt would hesitate to become a minister because the emoluments were small, if they could not be larger; but to become a minister under existing conditions is, in far too many cases, to become the servant of inconsiderateness and selfishness. If really necessary, many a minister and his wife would be glad to lay aside pretense and do home missionary work on a proper basis, living as do settlement workers, in poor districts among destitute people. Men are not less heroic than of old; but they have knowledge and discernment, and they see that it is not poverty, but carelessness and selfishness that dictate the financial provision for many ministers."

The inevitable consequence is that young men who are conscious of superior power, save their self-respect, and guard themselves from dependence upon a niggardly and grudging vestry in the present, and a miserable, unprovided for old age, without adequate pension or support, and remain among the laity.

The Church in these matters is transgressing the first law of economics, the care of the imperative present, the thing which lies at the basis of the stability and efficiency of the ministry in the future.

"One poor, sick Priest who bears on his person the marks of poverty and neglect sets back the Faith more than ten active Clergymen can advance it."

"The Church and all her hosts must always retreat in confusion before the charge of inhumanity. It would be a good thing if the Church, before undertaking other work, should settle first this matter of providing adequate support for her aged and infirm Clergy."

"Removed from the List"

We have a record bearing this title and it holds the names of those runners in the race whose feet once trod the way and ran the race we still are running. They have vanished into the great silence and we hold their names in tender and reverential remembrance. Many of these names represent years of brave endeavor and quiet fidelity to tasks and works. May they have the peace which flows from service well performed and the joy of remembered sacrifices..

The mortality has been unusually great and we repeat the solemn warning of our last report, that what we do for those who remain must be done quickly.

Clerical Neglect and False Modesty

The very magnitude of the work now being done demands that there be no uncertainty or failure of income. With increasing annual demands, by reason of additional names and number, and increased pensions, by reason of the increased cost of living, there must be increased offerings and added support in proportion. It is strange and disheartening in the extreme that in the face of the repeated recommendations of the General Convention, and the abundant setting forth of facts by the Trustees, that only about one-quarter of the Clergy and one-fifth of the churches send an annual offering to the General Clergy Relief Fund. If it were not for the legacies and bequests of loyal Churchmen and Churchwomen the work would scarcely be worthy of continuance.

For a confirmation of this statement we call attention to the fact that the churches in the last three years have contributed only about $100,000. For some reason many of the churches and rectors in large cities seem oblivious of the fact that there is a national Pension and Relief Fund, or that it depends upon them, in obeying the recommendation of the General Convention, to so support it, as that their own brethren of the household of faith may be relieved of suffering and distress in old age and infirmity.

The people of the Church are not responsible, since they cannot know the facts except through the Clergy. It is in the power of the Clergy to make the facts known and so to help their brethren.

Neglect is causing the aged brother to suffer. "Whoso seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him?"

Adjustments Suggested

There are Dioceses receiving from the General Clergy Relief Fund three and four times the amounts returned in offerings from the churches and at the same time making no effort to remedy this disproportion, but in some instances, on the contrary, are making appeals for their own pension and relief funds. There are other Dioceses having large lists of Clergy, widows and orphans, cared for by the General Clergy Relief Fund, and yet who neglect officially in journals or elsewhere to call attention to this fact or print the name, object and address of the Fund in order that churches and individuals may have the proper information.

The General Convention asks every Clergyman and every church to take up an annual offering for the Church's National and Official Society. The official presentation of the fund by the rector or minister of every congregation, with the distribution of circular matter giving the facts, is of the essence of the plan, if it is to be a success. It is also of the essence of the plan's efficiency and success in administering the trust that the money should be sent directly to the Trustees, to be put to immediate use, and in order that proper acknowledgment both in the reports to the General Convention and directly to those giving the money may be made.

Again, the General Fund is the only National Official Clergy Relief organization that can give pension and relief to the sick or disabled man, as such, or to his widow and orphan when he dies, and, therefore, the General Fund might well receive annual contributions from those Clergymen who when they are disabled or their widows and orphans in need, must call upon the Fund for help.

On all sides and from all quarters, from Bishops and Clergy come insistent demands and appeals to the General Fund asking that grants be made large and generous and adequate, but if the resources of the Fund are scattered and taken from it on all sides it cannot do justice to itself or the Church.

Administration and Safeguarding of Trust Funds and Finances

Paragraph from the report of the special committee (appointed by the General Convention at Richmond) to receive the Triennial Report of the Trustees and to nominate a new board:

"In view of the fact that it is proposed to raise this large sum of money for the General Clergy Relief Fund, and that generous bequests and large diocesan funds may be placed in the hands of the Trustees, we deem it advisable to state, as a result of our investigation, the methods used by the Trustees for safeguarding and administering the funds passing through their hands. We find that all securities and trust funds are deposited with one of the largest and strongest companies of New York City; that these cannot be touched except upon a resolution passed by the board, and that at least two Trustees must go to the trust company in person, and that all investments are made by a finance committee of three persons; that all expenditures and appropriations of every sort are made upon requisition in detail, which requisition goes through the hands of five officials; that the Treasurer is bonded for a sufficient amount to secure all contributions passing through his hands, and that all accounts are audited two or three times a year by an auditing committee and an official examiner. The expenses of administration we find are a fraction over eight per cent. We are of the opinion that all has been done that can be done to safeguard the interest of the Church in this important matter, and that the fund can be safely commended to all those who contemplate blessing themselves and the Church by placing in the hands of the Trustees large sums of money."

Clerical and Office Work

The details of office and clerical work which were considered large three years ago have again almost doubled in quantity and volume, while the ratio of expense to administration has been less than .051 per cent. The payment of additional pension, annuity and relief, together with the mailing, bookkeeping, pension records, Hymnals royalties accounts, acknowledgment of contributions, circularizing, advertising, financial statements and reports to each of the merged Dioceses, correspondence, etc., fill up the measure of a very busy office.

The Trustees and the Hymnal

The licensing and safeguarding of the Hymnal have been placed in the hands of the Trustees by the General Convention. To the Fund there comes from a small royalty upon the copyright sufficient money to pay the expenses of the administration of the Fund. It seems advisable therefore to restate certain matters for the information of the Church.

"The General Convention of 1880 denied the petition of certain Churchwomen asking permission to print selections of hymns for the following reasons:

"'First. That, if granted, any other body of Church people might make a similar request with regard to certain other of the hymns, and that thereby confusion might be created throughout our Churches, and uniformity be destroyed, and

"'Secondly. Because it would seriously interfere with the present arrangement between the 'Trustees of the Fund for the Relief of Widows and Orphans of Deceased Clergymen,' etc., and the publishers of the Hymnal, by which a royalty is secured for the purposes of said Fund.'

"The Trustees suggest that the cheap edition of the Hymnal itself be loyally used at all services, with a service leaf inserted, if desired, which would be more economical, or else that a license be obtained as is required from all other publishers. Such requirement is in the interest of the order, justice and uniformity the Hymnal Committee and the General Convention have tried to safeguard, and would not endanger the value of the copyright."

It was evidently the purpose of the Church, through the Hymnal Commission and the Board of Trustees of the General Clergy Relief Fund, to protect the Hymnal and to supervise the publication of hymns used by the Church. It is not a question of copyright or royalties alone, but an authorized and acceptable and trustworthy publication.

To permit any one and every one to publish as many hymns as they please without the license and authority of the General Convention, is not expedient for the Church nor just to the regular publishers of the Hymnal who pay a royalty, nor to the General Clergy Relief Fund Trustees in doing a work which touches deeply the heart of the Church and which depends upon the royalty to pay expenses.

A gift, a bequest to keep alive the memory of a dear departed one, will be a continual blessing to some aged servant of the Church who gave up his life, his worldly prospects for the work of the Gospel.

Succinct Data

Tri-ennial Report shows $502,723.35 collected. 634 Beneficiaries relieved. 66 Dioceses merged. $119,000 in legacies received. $800,000 in legacies promised. Need and duty of Pension and Relief brought into prominence in ten years, and $1,121,348.63 collected during that period. Pensions of $500 are being paid, BUT average Relief only about $200, BECAUSE only 1-4 of the clergy and 1-5 of the churches obey the General Convention and send annual offerings. The Fund for "Automatic Pensions at 64" (Inaugurated by the present Treasurer nine years ago) has to its credit $70,000 in pledges and $30,000 in cash. The Trustees need for regular work outside of "Automatic Pensions at 64," $30,000 per quarter. They ought to have more, so as to increase Pension and Relief to Clergy disabled by age or infirmity and to Widows and Orphans.

THE GENERAL CLERGY RELIEF FUND
REV. ALFRED J. P. MCCLURE, Treasurer
Church House, 12th and Walnut Streets
Philadelphia, Penna.

In Answer to Questions

Present Work and what it Includes Contributions to the General Clergy Relief Fund are used for the general and current work of the Society, which includes "The Pension and Relief of the Clergy, young or old, who are disabled by sickness or old age and all Widows and Orphans of Clergymen," or can be designated for the "Permanent Fund."

Annual Offerings Under the Canons and according to the recommendation of the General Convention the "Annual Offerings" "in Parishes and Congregations" should be sent to the General Clergy Relief Fund, as also "a percentage of the Communion Alms" and "other Voluntary Gifts and Legacies."

Wills Wills should carefully designate the General Clergy Relief Fund (it being the Church's National, Incorporated Society) as beneficiary, in order to insure legacies and bequests against legal complications. Legacies and bequests can be designated for any purpose which is under the administration of the Trustees of the General Clergy Relief Fund.

Accumulated Funds in Case of Merging

All accumulated funds of dioceses merging with the General Clergy Relief Fund and turning over beneficiaries to the Society for Pension and Relief should be sent to the Trustees of the General Clergy Relief Fund.

Amount Required Quarterly

About $30,000 is required quarterly to keep many on the Church's large list from actual suffering. We therefore earnestly solicit the continued contributions and interest of all Churchmen and Church women for this urgent and present work. Whatever permanent funds may be established or enlarged, the pressing daily needs of the aged, the infirm, the widow and the orphan must be met.

Automatic Pensions

"Automatic Pensions at 64" is a separate account started by the Trustees of the General Clergy Relief Fund nine years ago, the interest upon which is to be used for the clergy alone when they reach the age of 64.

The Five Million Commission

In addition to the General Clergy Relief Fund there is a Commission appointed to raise Five Millions of Dollars, the interest alone of which is to be used for the pension of the clergy when they reach the age of 64. The collection of the Five Million Fund is under a separate management, although the National Incorporated Church Society is the administrator. The money thus collected is not to be used for the clergy, young or old, disabled by age or infirmity, or for the Widows and Orphans of Clergymen, but it does co-ordinate with the work of the Trustees of the General Clergy Relief Fund for "Automatic Pensions at 64."

All Clergymen are members of the General Clergy Relief Society, whether they join it or not, and without the payment of dues or fees or any other qualifications save that they must be Clergymen of the Church.

All young disabled Clergymen, old disabled Clergymen and Widows and Orphans of Clergymen are eligible for Pension and Relief.

Offerings can be designated for either of these.

Contributions for "Automatic Pensions at 64" can also be "designated."

All of each offering goes to the use for which it is "designated." The royalties on the Church Hymnals pay expenses.

NAME. General Clergy Relief Fund, Church House, Phila., Pa.

OBJECT. Pension and Relief by annual and special grants to the young clergymen sick or broken down, the old clergymen disabled by age or infirmity, the widow left with a family of small children and without support, the widow who in old age is deprived both of her partner and support, the helpless orphans.

FIELD. The whole Church in the United States and in Mission fields, 66 Dioceses and Missionary Districts are now consolidated with the General Clergy Relief Fund and depend upon it alone for above objects.

ELIGIBILITY. The General Clergy Relief Fund "applies no tests, attaches no conditions, requires no payments or membership dues, admits of no forfeitures." Its benefits are only limited by the generosity and gifts of the Church. All gifts and offerings go to the objects for which they are contributed. The Hymnal Royalties pay expenses.

WILLS. Wills should carefully designate the General Clergy Relief Fund (it being the Church's National, Incorporated Society) as beneficiary, in order to insure legacies and bequests against legal complications. Legacies and bequests can be designated for any purpose under the administration of the Trustees of the General Clergy Relief Fund.

ACTUAL CONDITIONS

¶ Numbers of young clergymen, stricken in the prime of life, after a hard struggle to enter the ministry, now suffering from tuberculosis, paralysis, nervous breakdown, loss of eye-sight, etc.

¶ Many splendid old men worn out (or cast out) suffering in one way or another from the infirmities of age, some of them not having sufficient food or clothing; no place, no support and, sometimes, saddest of all, without hope.

¶ Scores of widows of clergymen left with small children and no means of support. Also godly and refined women, widowed in old age, now sick and stricken with some dreadful disease, many of them suffering by reason of the lack of the ordinary comforts of life.

¶ A number of children of clergymen, full orphans or in part, gentle girls, young children, some delicate and sickly, some with no one near or dear to care for them.

¶ Special for designations. Large numbers suffering from long illnesses, expensive operations, fires, insurances about to lapse, mortgages about to be closed, need of a quick change of climate in order to save a valuable life, etc.

WE are to make an offering on next Sunday for the pension and relief of the old and disabled clergy and the widows and orphans of the same.

¶ The Church is growing in wealth and power, and she ought to grow in her sense of responsibility as to the pension and care of her old and disabled clergy who have devoted life and strength, not only to the upbuilding of the Church, but to the good of the community and the welfare of the nation.

¶ It is only right and just, therefore, that there should be substantial recognition of services that can be no longer rendered, by reason of sickness or added years.

¶ Railroads, corporations, governments, cities are in this our day doing remarkable things in the matter of pension and relief. Shall the Church of the Living God be less kind, less just, less wise? Moreover, can we, in any practical way, do more towards filling up the depleted ranks of the Christian Ministry than by caring with justice and mercy for those who are no longer able to serve at the Church's Altars?

¶ Circulars and reports from the General Clergy Relief Fund will tell how the work is being done and the great need.

¶ Let us do our share both by prayers and gifts that in the Church also justice and mercy shall be established.

Sincerely yours,

Enclose your gift in the accompanying envelope. If you are deprived of the privilege of being in church when the offering is made, send the envelope or hand it in at a later service.

VI. That the said parties of the first part, and their successors, will send promptly to the treasurer of the parties of the second part all contributions and offerings received for the purpose of clergy relief and will use their best endeavors to procure the collection in all churches and missions in said diocese an annual offering for the said purpose; and will cause to be printed annually in the journal of said diocese the name and object of the parties of the second part and the name and address of their treasurer.

NOTICE

By unanimous resolution of the Board of Trustees the authorities of the various Dioceses and Missionary Jurisdictions are requested to place the name, title, address and Treasurer of the General Clergy Relief Fund in some part of the published Journal: Thus, "The General Clergy Relief Fund. The general and official society for pension and relief covering the whole Church. Canon 53. The General Convention recommends an annual offering from every Church, and that a percentage of the Communion Alms be given to this fund. Remit to: Treasurer, Alfred J. P. McClure, the Church House, 12th and Walnut Sts., Philadelphia, Pa."

They ask this:

First—Because the Fund is the national and official organization of the whole Church, created by its representatives for doing work in each Diocese.

Second—Because the Fund stands upon absolutely the same basis in the General Canons and legislation of the Church as the Foreign and Domestic Missionary Society and requires the same recognition.

Third—Because pensions and annuities are asked for and granted in every Diocese and Missionary Jurisdiction, and therefore it is to the interest of each Diocese and Missionary Jurisdiction to assist in giving all the information and publicity possible.

Fourth—Because the Trustees do not discriminate in any manner whatsoever in making appropriations.

Fifth—Because Churchmen everywhere who are interested in the general work of the Church require this information.

Resolution, General Convention of 1904

"Resolved, That as the General Clergy Relief Fund is the direct creation of the General Convention, this Fund should have precedence of all other modes of clerical relief in the recommendations of the Committee on the State of the Church, and that the name of this Fund be inserted in their report."
